

As Sue Perkins reflects on her first year in Nigeria and all God has done in and through her, she expresses that adapting to life in a developing country has been challenging, but that the warm Nigerian community and God's grace have made the journey deeply rewarding and fulfilling.

"At Hope & Freedom Center and Masada House, I've seen God combine my professional skills and personal testimony to share His love with the broken and unreached. Masada House, once a vision, is now a vibrant home for women seeking restoration in Christ. Prison Ministry has been a highlight, where Thursday visits bring joy, Gospel hope, and much-needed meals to the inmates. In the Jungle Ministry (a ghetto called Jenta), I co-lead Bible studies with women who inspire me with their unwavering faith despite crushing poverty.

I'm humbled to witness God's glory in action, transforming lives and softening hearts. As I look ahead, I am excited for all He has in store for the LEAH Foundation and the people of Nigeria."

Sue praises God for:

- Hope & Freedom Center's graduation of 21 women this year!
- Masada House, now home to five women, with one "graduating" to independence.
- Prison ministry breakthroughs, including new believers and women freed.
- A new borehole providing water and Living Water to neighbors.
- Her health, healing, and finding a worship center near her home.

Please pray for:

- Leah's freedom and an end to poverty and oppression in Nigeria.
- God's discernment as Sue prioritizes programs for His kingdom.
- Financial provision for Gospel ministry and practical needs like food and Bibles.
- God's grace, strength, and joy as Sue serves in His mission.

Sue added, "Thank you for your prayers and support. I have found my home—with God, for God, in Nigeria!"
