

What has God given you that you can use for His kingdom?

In this video we shine the spotlight on John and Susan, whose path may look different than you'd expect. Rather than serving in traditional ministry roles, John and Susan are bringing decades of professional experience to strengthen and support other global workers. They also stepped into this calling later in life, discovering that God's invitation to join His work doesn't come with an age limit.

God is using their practical skills to strengthen His kingdom in meaningful ways and through their support of an Arabic church planting organization the gospel is advancing across the Middle East, North Africa, and beyond.
